FOREWORD

The Twentieth Annual Meeting of the Washington State Society, Sons of the American Revolution, held in Seattle February 23, 1914, adopted the following recommendation:

> "Your Committee on Year Book recommend that a book be compiled and published by February 22, 1915, if possible, costing not to exceed two hundred dollars for three hundred copies, unless an additional reasonable amount be granted by the Board of Managers;
> "That said compilation and publication be under the direction of a Committee composed of the Secretary, Registrar and Historian;
> "That each member of this Society be entitled to one copy of said book free of cost;
> "And that the Board of Managers be authorized to dispose of the remaining books to such persons, institutions and Sons of the American Revolution Societies as it may deem advisable."

The Publication Committee was directed by the Board of Managers (meeting January 19, 1915) to extend this Register such time after February 22, 1915, as should be necessary to properly complete it;

To print four hundred copies, and to draw on the Treasurer for such funds as might be required therefor (meeting December 21, 1915);

And to include in this Register the names of all applicants for membership approved to and including April 19, 1916 (meeting April 11, 1916).

Guided by the foregoing instructions, and desirous of completing the work as early as possible, with accuracy and brevity, the Committee feels that the Year Book now presented to the Society will be of value to the members at large, and will supply a record so complete as to be authoritative in the publication of any subsequent Register.

The Committee desires to thank all members of the Society who have so kindly given of their time and energy in the preparation of this book.

PUBLICATION COMMITTEE.

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY

Organized April 30, 1889.
Incorporated by Act of Congress June 9, 1906.

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is composed substantially of the State Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution. With the exception of the Society of Cincinnati, prior to 1876 no concerted attempt had been made looking toward the gathering together of the descendants of the Revolutionary patriots. The Centennial Exposition held at Philadelphia in 1876, and the patriotic sentiment aroused by the coming together of the American people at that gathering led to some interest in forming some organization. But it was in California that the first organization of this kind was definitely established. A society known as the Sons of Revolutionary Sires had been formed by the citizens of San Francisco under the leadership of Dr. John L. Cogswell in October, 1875, and on the 4th of July, 1876, the society took part in the public procession celebrating that day, and thus attention was called to the society. The progress of the society was very slow for a number of years.

A few years later, in New York, a society was founded which was called Sons of the Revolution. It is probably not necessary to take up in this sketch any history of the attempt to unite the two societies known as Sons of the Revolution and Sons of the American Revolution.

For some years the societies, which, in 1889, were united under the title Sons of the American Revolution had as their distinguishing mark the requirement that their members should be lineal descendants of persons who took an active part in the American Revolution, while the society known as the Sons of the Revolution permitted collateral descendants of soldiers and patriots who left no lineal descendants to become members.

On April 30th, 1889, representatives of nine of the State Societies met in Fraunces' Tavern, in New York City, and formed a union and this is regarded as the beginning of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. The formation of a National Society seemed to give new life to the organization, and from that day the advance has been rapid, until now we have a society in nearly all of the States of the Union and in the District of Columbia and the Territory of Hawaii. There is also a society in France and one in the Philippine Islands. The report of the Registrar General to the Syracuse Congress in 1914 showed an active membership of 13,178, with an increase during the year previous of 1,110.

Our Year Book is not the place for setting forth the things that the Society has accomplished. It is sufficient to say that it is taking a leading part in the patriotic achievements of the day, and if the energetic work of our National Society is seconded by the State Societies, material for future historians of our country will be well preserved in our National Library at Washington.

OBJECTS AND PURPOSES.

"The purposes and objects of this Society are declared to be patriotic, historical, and educational, and shall include those intended or designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the Government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war, as well as documents, relics, and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the war and of the Revolutionary period; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and to carry out the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of our country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people."—Article II, Constitution of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

"Any man shall be eligible to membership in the Society who, being of the age of twenty-one years or over, and a citizen of good repute in the community, is the lineal descendant of an ancestor who was at all times unfailing in his loyalty to, and rendered active service in, the cause of American independence, either as an officer, soldier, seaman, marine, militiaman or minute man, in the armed forces of the Continental Congress, or of any one of the several Colonies or States, or as a Signer of the Declaration of Independence, or as a member of a Committee of Safety or Correspondence, or as a member of any Continental, Provincial, or Colonial Congress or Legislature, or as a recognized patriot who performed actual service by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain."—Section 1, Article III, Constitution of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

REASONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

1. The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution encourages public interest in the men, events and objects of the Revolutionary war.

2. It seeks to cultivate the ideal of disinterested service to the nation.

3. It preserves for future generations the genealogy of members as far back as the Revolutionary period, rendering less difficult and more accurate the task of the historian.

Membership in this Society insures the preservation of two sets of every record filed—one by the State Registrar, and one by the Registrar General at Washington, D. C.

4. It aims to inculcate in its members and their families lessons of good citizenship drawn from the heroism and self-sacrifice of their own ancestors.

5. By celebrating the important events of the Revolution it recalls to memory the objects of that struggle and the principles for which our forefathers fought, especially as embodied in the Declaration of Independence.

6. It engages in the marking of battlefields, routes of march and historic sites, by monuments and tablets, and in the preservation of historic buildings from decay.

7. It would promote the celebration of other important civic events, as the admission of new states, and momentous occurrences in state and local history, and the marking of places of historic interest.

8. It holds as one of its most important functions the work of preserving and preparing for public use the priceless documents, letters and other relics of the Revolutionary era.

9. By means of leaflets and books, lecturers and teachers, in a language and in a form intelligible to the millions of our fellow citizens of foreign birth, it diffuses among them a better understanding of the principles of free government and a greater love for their adopted country, making them more worthy members of the body politic.

10. It spans the chasm between the eighteenth and the twentieth centuries by teaching the true relation between the great events of the Revolutionary period and the equally significant events and movements of the present.

It demonstrates the worth of independence in thought and of courage in action today, in the progress of our evolving civilization, through the illustrious example of the liberty-loving generation of 1776, which dared and died in opposition to tyranny and oppression, inspiring a hope of political and economic freedom for the individual citizen, and setting a new and loftier standard of justice among governments.

11. It brings together in friendly association men of the North, the South, the East and the West, on a basis non-partisan and non-sectarian.

THE WASHINGTON SOCIETY

In the year 1891, a Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, known as the Oregon and Washington Society, was organized, and in a few years the membership from the State of Washington was large enough to justify the organization of a State Society, and on June 17th, 1895, the members of the Oregon and Washington Society living in the State of Washington met in Seattle and organized the Washington State Society with the following Charter Members:

The foregoing list of Charter Members was supplied by the Secretary General, and was accompanied by the following letter:

OFFICE OF
SECRETARY GENERAL AND REGISTRAR GENERAL
SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION
Washington, D. C., February 16, 1916.

Mr. G. E. Tilton,
Secretary of Washington State Society.

Dear Sir and Compatriot:

Thru some mishap somewhere your letters of February 1st reached me only today, and I hasten to reply.

I find from the records that in registering the names of the Charter Members of the Washington Society I was guided by letter of Secretary A. S. Gibbs, dated September 18, 1895, giving me the names of 33 persons demitted from "Oregon and Washington Society" and other States, and 22 persons (57 in all) whose papers I had approved in July and September.

It was in this list that the Society was fully authorized by the President General in October, 1895.

Nathan Beman's paper, No. 58, was not then quite satisfactory, but was made good later.

Rev. A. N. Thompson's demit from Ohio had not then arrived, though he was elected Vice-President. He became No. 60.

No. 59, A. L. Valentine, was acted on November 25, 1895.

Those marked (*) in the list enclosed were the 21 who were duly qualified to act at the temporary organization June 17, 1895.

Very truly yours,
A. Howard Clark,
Secretary General and Registrar General.

The first President of the Society was Col. S. W. Scott, and a date for the annual meeting of the Society was fixed as February 22nd of each year, the first annual meeting being held on February 22nd, 1896. The custom of the Society has been to hold the business meeting in the afternoon of February 22nd, and this is followed in the evening by an annual banquet at which patriotic toasts are offered and responses made.

It is, we think, unnecessary to detail the action of the Society for years which have elapsed since its organization. Very early in its history, the Society adopted the plan of having the students of the High Schools in the various cities of the State in which Chapters of the Society have been formed compete annually for prizes. At the present time the cities of Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, North Yakima, Hoquiam and Olympia are in the contest. To the High Schools of each city are awarded two prizes, one of ten dollars and one of five dollars. Where there is more than one High School in the city, the orations are prepared by the students and sent to a committee and from the orations submitted a sufficient number are selected for delivery in public, and from those which are delivered in public the prize winners are selected. Where there is only one High School in a city, all the orations are delivered in public.

In the year 1909, with the able assistance of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the State Society erected on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, being the grounds of the State University at Seattle, a flag pole consisting of a single stick one hundred ninety-five feet high. In recent years the State Society has taken part in the patriotic parade on Memorial Day. At the present time our Society is taking very active part in the teaching of aliens their duties as citizens of the United States and how to acquire citizenship.

At the National Congress held in Portland, Oregon, July 19-20, 1915, the Traveling Banner was awarded the Washington State Society, having been won by making the largest net percentage increase in membership of all the State Societies for the year ending March 31, 1915, with a net gain of 31 per cent.

The Washington State Society was honored at that Congress by the election of Dr. Samuel Judd Holmes, of Seattle, to the position of Vice-President General of the National Society.

During the year of 1914 more new members were added to our Society than in any previous year in our history, and the Society has never been in a more flourishing condition than it is at present.

SPOKANE CHAPTER

Spokane

Spokane Chapter (No. 1) was organized February 1st, 1894, as a Chapter of the Oregon and Washington Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and on the organization of the Washington Society Sons of the American Revolution continued as Chapter No. 1 of the State Society. The charter members were Arthur W. Doland No. 6, Egbert Tangier Smith Steele No. 50, Kirkland K. Kutter, William Howell Maxwell No. 39, John Kennedy Stout No. 2, Henry Martyn Hoyt No. 33, and J. C. McKinstry. The information furnished to the writer for this Register consists of the foregoing and a list of the present members of the Chapter. Inasmuch as the members of the State Society are published elsewhere in this Register, it is not thought advisable to insert the names of the members of the Spokane Chapter here.

It is, therefore, possible only for us to say that the Spokane Chapter is in a flourishing condition and contains the names of the leading citizens of Spokane in its membership, and that the membership of the Spokane Chapter makes its presence in the City of Spokane felt.

SEATTLE CHAPTER

Seattle

This Chapter (No. 2) was also originally organized as a chapter of the Oregon and Washington Society. The charter members were Ell Stone Smith No. 11, Robert C. Strudwick No. 108, Arthur S. Gibbs, No. 3, George Alexander Virtue No. 52, Arthur Elwood Hanford No. 30, Edgar Ray Butterworth No. 17, Frank Hanford No. 28, Carlisle Paterson Blanchard No. 15.

On the organization of the Washington State Society, this chapter became Chapter No. 2 of the Washington State Society.

In the year 1896 this Chapter observed Bunker Hill Day and Flag Day. In the year 1897 the Chapter presented to the High School of Seattle a portrait of George Washington and a fac-simile of the Declaration of Independence, and observed patriotic services on the Fourth of July at the First Presbyterian Church. In 1898 the Chapter observed Ticonderoga Day and Flag Day. At the annual meeting of the Chapter in 1900 Hon. Charles Delaus Emery was elected President of the Chapter, and died shortly thereafter. Owing to the fact that none of the other officers assumed any responsibility, there was no meeting of this Chapter until March 19, 1904, and in this year Lexington Day was celebrated.

Beginning with the year 1905, Seattle Chapter has had an active life and has held meetings nearly every month in every year, patriotic subjects being discussed at these meetings In April, 1912, the Chapter presented a fac-simile of the Declaration of Independence to each of the following educational institutions in Seattle:

University of Washington
Adelphia College
Ross Seminary
Mercer Island Parental School
Holy Names Academy and Normal School
Immaculate Conception School

Sacred Heart School
Ballard High School
Broadway High School
Franklin High School
Lincoln High School
Queen Anne High School
West Seattle High School

During this year and also during the years 1913 and 1914, Memorial Day, Flag Day, Bunker Hill Day, Lexington Day and other anniversaries of the events of the American Revolution have been commemorated.

This Chapter never was in a more flourishing condition than at the present time.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON CHAPTER

Tacoma

This Chapter (No. 3) was the first organized under the auspices of the Washington State Society (proper), and was organized February 20, 1896.

The charter members were:

		No.
Rev. Arthur Newton Thompson	(310)	60
George B. Blanchard		61
Harrison Gardner Foster		73
George Hunt Walker		77
Robert Gile Walker		78
Walter Marsh Bosworth		80
Benjamin Looker Harvey		31

During the years 1896 and 1899 inclusive, this Chapter was very active—held frequent meetings, generally at the houses of some of the members, and had a delightful social history. The various events of the Revolution were commemorated from time to time. From the years 1900 to 1907 there was not much activity in the Chapter, but from the year 1908 to the present time the activities of this Chapter have been as they were previous to 1900, and the various Revolutionary anniversaries have been observed. One event which we think should be especially mentioned as a part of the history of the Chapter is the procuring of four trees from the home of Washington at Mount Vernon and preseting them to the Washington School at Tacoma.

The Chapter holds about six formal meetings during the year. These are held in the evening at the residence of some member, and historical and patriotic papers are read. This Chapter seems to have the right spirit in its meetings, as a considerable portion of each of them is given up to social intercourse among its members.

Rev. Granville Lowther	396

George Washington Chapter has adopted the following in its Constitution:

"The objects of this Chapter are to promote and fulfill the purposes and plans of the National and State Societies; to unite and promote fellowship among its members; to celebrate locally the memorable events of the American Revolution; to encourage historical research in relation to the conquest and settlement of the Northwest; to acquire and preserve the records, relics, and documents, and to mark, by appropriate and permanent memorials, those places important in the conquest and settlement of the Northwest; to foster true patriotism; and to maintain and defend those institutions fostered by, and bequeathed to us by, the Forefathers of this Republic."

This Chapter has held meetings monthly and at present has a live membership of fifteen with about ten eligibles lining up for early application. We are making a systematic study of pioneer conditions in the Northwest. At the October meeting Hon. A. J. Splawn, Mayor of North Yakima, gave an extremely interesting history of the Yakima Indian troubles, having obtained his information at first hand from conversations with the chiefs and head men during the past twenty-five years.

On April 20th, 1914, the Chapter had a dinner in celebration of Lexington Day.

HENRY MOSS BOUTELLE

(The only member of the Washington State Society killed in battle)

Henry Moss Boutelle was born June 17, 1875, at Vancouver, Washington. On July 9, 1898, he was appointed Second Lieutenant and was assigned to the Third U. S. Artillery. He was killed in action at Iliaga, Philippine Islands, November 2, 1899.

The following appreciation of Lieutenant Boutelle has been received by the Committee on Publication:

San Francisco, California, August 11, 1914.

Anything I may say of the military life of Lieutenant Henry M. Boutelle, Third Artillery, who died in action with the Insurrectos at Iliaga, P. I., November 2, 1899, while gallantly leading his men against ten times their number, or in the thirty-two actions in which we participated together, would be merely to induce greater love and devotion to duty in the minds of the sons of our country. * * * and to acquire that which made him without exception the best example I have known of what a clean, self-respecting, considerate, painstaking, devoted son, courtly gentleman and gallant soldier should be.

I was First Sergeant of his Battery at the outbreak of the Philippine Insurrection of February 2, 1899, and subsequently we served together as officers in command of Macabebe Scouts for Generals Lawton and Young.

The Macabebe Scouts were composed of ex-soldiers of Spain, thoroughly amenable to discipline, blood enemies of the Insurrectos, and only needed men like Henry Boutelle to lead them. They were critical, watched their officers closely, and the result of this observation was indicated by their conduct under them while in action. The degree of loyalty that the conduct of Henry Boutelle created in them may be learned from the gallant fight against overwhelming odds on November

LIEUTENANT HENRY MOSS BOUTELLE

Killed in action November 2, 1899—Iliaga, Philippine Islands.

2nd, not only before his death but afterwards in protecting and carrying his body thirteen miles to Cabanatuan. With the body of Lieutenant Boutelle and the wounded on litters, the remnant of this detachment fought its way eleven miles to the Rio Grande River through overwhelming numbers of insurrectos.

Lieutenant Boutelle's father was his ideal of a soldier, and nothing pleased him more than when he learned that his father's brother officers, or old troopers compared favorably his conduct with that of his father.

He was absolutely fearless in action, cool and resourceful.

The men of the Third Artillery loved him.

Lieutenant Boutelle's military record is replete with the estimate his superiors placed upon his services.

General Barry spoke of the magnificent work he had been performing; that "his loss was a great shock to all of us and was universally regretted.

"He was as fine a young soldier as ever lived; cool, gallant and resourceful in action and beloved by all. He was killed while leading his company of Macabebe Scouts."

Major General Kobbe, retired, in a letter to Major Frazier A. Boutelle, father of Lieutenant Henry Moss Boutelle, included the following: "I was very fond of your son and kept him with me as long as I remained at Malolas, though he was eager to join the Macabebes. When I heard of his death I thought of his mother and you;

"He was a good soldier—the better for his pure heart and kindly nature—and he died, as he lived, a gallant gentleman."

Brigadier Clarence W. Edwards, Adjutant General to General Lawton, spoke of him as follows: "I know of no young officer in the whole army corps who had a better official and personal record; and even those of us in the First Division who had not the pleasure of knowing him, were completely done up at the news of his death."

His record on file in the War Department will show that he was recommended for cool and conspicuous gallantry in action in the battles of Tondo, February 4, 1899; La Loma, February 5, 1899; Caloocan, February 10, 1899; Malinta, March 25, 1899; Polo, March 26, 1899; Marilao, March 27, 1899, and Malolas, April 1, 1899.

He was also recommended for a brevet for distinguished gallantry in action on October 18, 1899, and this distinguished service was further commemorated by naming in his honor a battery in the Harbor of San Francisco, California, and a steamer of the Quartermaster Department in the Harbor of Boston, Massachusetts.

Three Americans and four Spaniards were honored by the Macabebe tribe by having a plaza, a street or river in the city and province of Macabebe named for them. Lieutenant Henry Moss Boutelle was one of the Americans thus honored.

Henry Boutelle welcomed the privilege of dying for his country. He reflected honor on his country, his parents and his name.

Many strive, without success, for more than the allotted four score years and ten to accomplish what he did in his short life.

D. P. QUINLAN,
Captain and Acting Judge Advocate,
Western Department, United States Army.
